

Marios Toumbas

Jazz pianist Marios Toumbas earned a Bachelor of Music, Cum Laude, in Music Synthesis from Berklee College of Music, Boston, MA, and a Master of Music Degree with Honors in Jazz Studies, from the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, MA.

He was a student of internationally renowned jazz educator Charlie Banacos and well-known jazz pianist Danilo Perez. Marios has performed throughout the world with famous jazz musicians such as electric bassist Anthony Jackson (creator of the 6-string el. Bass), saxophonist Tony Lakatos and guitarists Jeff Richman and Brett Garsed.

Also, Marios has performed at International Jazz festivals including the Montreal Jazz Festival in Canada, the Krakow Jazz Festival in Poland, and the Blues North City Festival in Serbia. He has played concerts at the Royal Festival Hall in London and Sun City Music Hall in Johannesburg South Africa.

Marios has been an instructor and lecturer of Jazz music at European University Cyprus since 2009.