

Annini Tsiouti

Annini Tsiouti studied piano and chamber music at the Ecole Normale de Musique de Paris and the Conservatoire Municipal Claude Debussy. She holds a Master's Degree from the University of Paris IV Sorbonne where she focused on the piano music of Greek composer Nikos Skalkottas. Since her return to Cyprus Annini has been working as an accompanist and piano teacher, while at the same time extensively performing in concerts and festivals throughout Europe and the Middle East. Specializing in the music of the 20th century, she has given many world premieres of works by contemporary Cypriot composers. In 2010 Annini founded the Cypriot branch of RILM (International Repertory of Music Literature) which she has been since coordinating. She is currently continuing her research on the piano music of Greek composer Nikos Skalkottas (32 Piano Pieces) in view of obtaining her Doctorate degree at the University of Paris IV Sorbonne.
